

Tom Moore's Tavern 1652

Tom Moore's Tavern was built in 1652 as a private home for the Trott Family. The property was owned by Samuel Trott in 1804 when Tom Moore, the Irish poet, came to Bermuda as Registrar of the Court of Vice-Admiralty. It was here that his friendship with Nea Tucker came into being and where he wrote many of his well-known works. The house became a Tavern over 100 years ago and the records show that more than 3 million people have wined and dined within these walls since then. Today, Tom Moore's holds the prestigious position of being rated Bermuda's highest awarded restaurant having achieved the AAA Four-Diamond Award for the past 13 years and the American Academy of Hospitality Sciences Award.
